Programs Replaced

Neighborhood Youth Corps (NYC) and Operation Community Development (OCD) programs are soon to be replaced by the new Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA). This act will continue the Department of Labor work CETA was to replace experience and training programs in July. Appropriations were not made, however, until last week.

Director Joe Higgins is attending a meeting this week of the Labor Department officials, to consider the Northern Cheyenne cooperative plan for these funds.

If plans are accepted, funds for drug testing are available in October, Higgins reports.

Priorities will be primarily the hiring and training of adults and high school dropouts. An in-school program this year appears doubtful.

Construction Priorities Listed

Priorities for construction of a high school in Lame Deer were outlined last week in a meeting with education, Tribal Councilmen and Bureau of Indian Affairs personnel.

The auditorium and gymnasium were eliminated from initial plans, to be built later as funds are available, according to Councilman Kenneth Huerkamp. The Tribal Gym will be used until a school gym is built.

The school will be built west of highway 212, across from the BIA building. Sewage disposal now located there will be moved north about two miles.

Contracts will be let about June 1, 1975, Huerkamp said, with target date for completion one year later. Staff housing was given priority, followed by plant management facilities. Plans on the priority list is the gym, with the auditorium given final priority.

First Film With

All-Indian Cast

Brigham Young University is to release this fall a film, "A Different Drum," believed to be the first with an all-Indian cast.

Jay Silverhead of Lone Ranger Ranch, Chief Dan George, and George American Horse, are among well-known actors to star.

Filmed in Utah County and at BYU studios, "A Different Drum" tells the story of a modern Comanche family that bridges past and present.

"This film gets completely away from the stereotyped Indian Hollywood has portrayed for years," says director Scott Silverhead. "We are showing that Indians are and are making it in today's world, are becoming self-sustaining and independent in government handouts."

"Screenplay is by Douglas Stewart, who also wrote the screenplay for 'Where the Red Fern Grows.'"
